THE POLITICAL POT.

A Secret Conference of the Stalwarts at New York.

CONKLING PROPOSES TO ENTER AND MAKE THE FIGHT.

Various Opinions as to what he will Attempt and the Chances of his Reelection—Governor Cornell Talked of as a Candidate—The Situation at Albany, Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The conference of senator Conkling's friends did not ... [illegible] ... At the hotel ... [illegible] ... Conkling's parlor were ... Minister at ... Fire Commissioner Van Cott, ... Senator Jones of Nevada, ... Lawson, ... State Senator Stephens, U.S. Marshal McDonald of the northern district of New York, A. B. Johnson of the republican state central committee, ex-Police Commissioner Erhardt, ... Marshal Payne, Jake Patterson, ex-Supt. Smythe, Collector Goulden of ... Vice President Arthur was not seen about the hotel.

Cornell and a Senatorship—Conkling's attitude.

New York, May 21.—The Times Albany special: While there is no outspoken opposition to the candidacy of Governor Cornell among republicans of the Conkling type, it is not one ... [illegible] ... to the Senate. ... [illegible] ...

"Talking with a man well known as an admirer both of Conkling and Cornell, he said: 'I don't believe Cornell would take it. ...' [illegible]

"Suppose then," asked the correspondent, "that Conkling is found to be out of the question, what would be the effect of Cornell's election, even if Conkling did not sanction it?"

"To look at the facts squarely, I must admit that the nomination of Gov. Cornell and some man selected by the half-breeds would be extremely popular. Both would be elected without opposition, but it would not unite the republican party in the state. There would be a division in the Conkling men, and half of them or more would work with the half-breeds in sustaining the administration. I must admit, to be frank, that such a combination would destroy Conkling's influence in the state politics of New York."

A gentleman who has been a political and social friend of Conkling's for many years and to whom the ex-senator has been accustomed to confide his inmost thoughts, said to a Times reporter, when asked if Conkling was a candidate for the office which he had resigned: ... [illegible] ...

Possible Candidates.

ALBANY, May 21.—Governor Cornell and ... [illegible] ... are today named as possible senatorial candidates.

The Tribune gets a Focus on Conkling's Plans.

The Tribune says: It was stated by Marshal Payne, Senator Strahan, Commissioner Van Cott and others that a more formal conference has been arranged for to-morrow, when the plan of action will be decided upon. For the present, however, it is the intention of Conkling and Platt, they said, to place themselves in the hands of their friends. That is, that their names will be used at Albany as candidates for re-election. The leaders of the machine will go to Albany Monday and begin an active canvass for re-election of the senators. All the power of the organization will be used for this purpose. If after an active canvass it is ascertained that the senators cannot be elected, then their names will be withdrawn with the announcement made publicly on their part that they never intended to be candidates. This plan was outlined to-night.

Democratic Policy—The Administration's Views.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The democrats hope for a democratic senator from New York. If that can't be obtained the democrats in the legislature will vote for Conkling. ... [illegible] ...

Judge Robertson's Estimate.

New York, May 21.—Judge Robertson said to a Tribune reporter that 15 votes will stay out of the Conkling-Platt caucus at Albany, and neither of those gentlemen can be reelected.

Conkling will not Desert Platt.

The News says: Conkling's friends, such as John F. Smythe, say that he can be re-elected without great difficulty, but that it will be impossible to elect Platt again. They urge the senator to be a candidate again with Judge Folger or some one else closely identified with the machine. Conkling, however, has decided not to be a candidate under any circumstances unless Platt can be elected with him. This being impossible, it may be set down as settled that neither one will be a candidate.

Administration Meeting at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, May 21.—A good sized meeting of the friends of the administration was held at the St. James Hotel this evening and was presided over by Hon. Myron P. Bush. Speeches were made by Hon. S. S. Rogers, Hon. A. W. Hickman, J. P. Einsfeld and others. Resolutions were passed endorsing the action of President Garfield in appointing Robertson, and members of the legislature were asked not to return Conkling and Platt.

Full Report of the Conference—Conkling will make an Open Fight.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The Times says: The question of the intentions of ex-Senators Conkling and Platt in endeavoring to induce the legislature to return them to the seats in the U. S. senate which they voluntarily relinquished a week ago, was definitely settled yesterday. The two gentlemen began an active campaign in Albany for office ... [illegible] ... President Arthur ... Speaker Sharpe ... [illegible] ...

"'Twas a glorious starry night. 'Neath her window, with voice and guitar, he softly sounded—'Oh, what are the wild waves saying?' As he swallowed a bucketful of soap water, he thought he heard the wild waves say—'Take that.'"

Catarrhal POISON

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local, and finally constitutional.

2. That, being constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.

3. That impurities in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.

4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhoea, Bronchitis, Leucorrhoea, and Consumption.

5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations, and Insoluble Snuffs, cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.

6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony:

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 23, 1881.

A GRINDING [illegible] CLASS [illegible]

[illegible] their professional ambition with federal offices at the national capital and are to be found in all parts of the republic in such jobs. Gentlemen of this last named class correspond in its gradations with all the ranks of society and interests of government, and actuated by a common purpose of living at the public expense, by fair means or foul are found everywhere. They are not confined to one party. Both parties furnish them in constantly increasing numbers. But though as partisans there are nominal differences between them, nevertheless there is an unquestioned bond, the common desire to live by their trade that unites them in one fraternal society. Ready always to combine against the public, against whom all their enterprises are directed, and guided by an unerring instinct that leads them to concentrate their efforts upon the defense of any weak point that may be threatened on the long line of their operations, they rush to the support of their order in cause on the least signal of danger; and whether a town council or a national administration is to be chosen, they are on the scene, to bear a hand, by direction or indirection, as circumstances may seem to require.

Portland is now to hold an election for mayor and other municipal officers, and the gentlemen of the local branch of this extensive profession are, and have been for months, working up their plans for it. As a coöperative association of persons from both parties, they are implacable enemies of any independent movement on the part of citizens to present candidates for the places to be filled. They want no independence in the city government, or in the administration of its affairs. Their cry, therefore, is for "straight party tickets," knowing from long experience that it is far easier to control municipal affairs in this way than in any other. It is assumed that on the present occasion there will be a ticket called republican; and now the so-called democratic branch of the concern begins to do its part for the common object by raising a clamor for a democratic ticket, denouncing any attempt on the part of citizens to participate in their own affairs without the dictation of those who devote themselves professionally to this sort of thing for what can be made out of it as a project to compel somebody to "eat crow," and exclaiming as usual that if they can't get a straight ring ticket called by the regular party name, then they will vote the straight ring ticket under the name of the other party. Great sticklers for "regularity" are these gentlemen of both branches of the concern. It is useless to say to them that what the city wants is good government and careful guardianship of its financial and other interests, with which party has nothing to do. Properly there can be no politics in it. The question is simply one of business administration, and it touches no principle, dogma, opinion or measure that any political party, as such, ever concerns itself with.

When the efforts of the brotherhood that makes the management or manipulation of public business a regular profession take a wider range and higher flight, the product is a result like the exploits of Dorsey, Brady, Gorham and others, of which the air lately has been full. It is now stated on grounds that the Chicago Times and other journals regard as plausible, that General Hancock was nominated for President by influences of the star route ring. This does not imply any knowledge on his part either of this circumstance or of the character of that ring. But it shows that the gentlemen of the profession are always on hand to look after their interests. The Chicago paper above named gives us the history. Brady was granted the money for "expediting" the star routes by a democratic congress. But the fact is that at first the house committee reported against it. For some reason the speaker, Randall, favored the report against the ring. The attorney for the ring was a sharp-witted democratic politician. Seeing that Randall was against the appropriation he proceeded to present the case in certain political bearings to Randall's personal adversary, Senator Wallace, showing him why the granting of the appropriation was a democratic party necessity. If the democratic party refused the appropriation, it would cost it the loss of certain western states that were necessary to the election of a president, said the sharp attorney for the ring. The consequence was that Wallace became the champion of the appropriation asked for by the ring, through Brady, and the "party-necessity" argument carried it through both houses, in spite of Randall's pretended unfriendliness. Having found a useful friend in Wallace, the ring naturally perceived that they might have a still further use for him. So they made up a purse of $20,000 to be used in Pennsylvania to send friends of Wallace, instead of Randall, to the Cincinnati convention. Wealthy partisans of Hancock increased the sum to $50,000. And thus the "Hancock boom" was started by money contributed by the star-route ring out of an appropriation by a democratic congress from the public treasury to "expedite" the star-route roguery, which a committee of the same congress had inquired into and reported against.

This is an entirely characteristic operation of the co-operative society whose members devote themselves to looting the public treasury in multifarious ways, and who employ their best efforts in controlling party organizations as a basis of their action. Especially in municipal affairs, where there is no occasion for appeals to party, and where no political interest can possibly be at stake, the gentlemen of this society are, as a rule, excessively loyal to party, unless by some chance as the unexpected participation of the people they get beaten in making the nominations in which event they are always ready to go over to the other party, make a "crow ticket" in their own interest, or do anything else to win.

Two months ago, or more, we printed a document which had been prepared by Mr. Villard, or under his direction, and addressed to the management of the Northern Pacific railroad, outlining a scheme for co-operation of the Northern Pacific and Oregon Railway and Navigation companies on the basis of connection at Wallula, rapid construction of the Northern Pacific from Ainsworth east, completion of the Oregon company's line to Portland with [illegible] Kalama. The [illegible] was [illegible] that the Northern Pacific would secure the best possible achievement of its object as a through line, while [illegible] of the Cascade branch could be slow as soon as might be found practicable. This document was not intended at first for publication, but was furnished by Mr. Villard to the press during the progress of the recent controversy, in order to show the public just what his propositions and purposes were. His statement concerning the future policy of the Northern Pacific, reported through press dispatches to-day, is substan-

[illegible] the paper above [illegible] Everything [illegible] successfully [illegible]

Alexander II [illegible]

[illegible] which is the best thing for Tents.

The rapidity with which fortunes may be won and lost and won again has been remarkably illustrated by Jay Cooke. When he had completed his agency for the sale of United States bonds, and before he had overloaded himself with the Northern Pacific railroad enterprise, he ranked among millionaires. In 1873 his colossal fortune appeared to crumble as if it were a card house. He was believed to be utterly ruined. Eight years have not yet elapsed, but we find him able to bid in his country seat, Ogontz, near Philadelphia, for $113,500, and that he is going to live there once more. And the Northern Pacific railroad is again on its feet.

Statistics prepared by the agricultural department show that improved lands in Massachusetts command a higher price than those of any other state in the union, the average price being $91 per acre. Those of Alabama, which show the lowest price, are given at $7 45 per acre. There is no doubt that in natural fertility and productiveness the latter far surpass the former but the difference in value is owing to the different conditions of society which have long prevailed in the two states. Free labor, free schools and equal laws make valuable lands, while opposite conditions produce opposite results.

The ways of the Russian nihilists are past finding out. It appears that the last warning letter received by Alexander III since the execution of the regicides was handed him by his eldest son, who found it in the hand of his nurse, placed there by some one while she had was out walking. About the same time was published also a remarkable address from the executive committee to the czar, in which the plans and purposes of the nihilist party were specifically set forth, as well as the terms upon which the emperor could have peace.

In August next the people of North Carolina will vote on a prohibition amendment to their state constitution. The prohibitionists are already in the field and doing active work. When the question came before the legislature it was backed by a petition signed by 27,000 persons, and many of the leading men of the state.

The Sacramento Record-Union says it "spends from $16,000 to $18,000 a year upon its news." As the Record-Union is a great newspaper we do not doubt it. But The Oregonian is spending even more. Its rate now exceeds $20,000 a year.

American institutions continue to receive foreign recognition. Two New York companies are to start lager beer brewing in London this summer, one with a capital of $50,000 and the other with $100,000.

The senate adjourned without confirming George A. Steel as postmaster of Portland. For reasons which may be supposed sufficient, the committee declined to report the nomination to the senate.

All eastern papers published in full the revelations of Dorsey's transactions in Oregon star routes, on the day following the disclosures thereof by The Oregonian.

CITY.

FOURTH OF JULY RACES.—The present indications are that the races ... [illegible]

NO. ONE'S NEW HORSES.—Yesterday afternoon, through the liberality of several friends of Williamette Engine Company No. 1, they were supplied with horses. The team is a splendid pair of chestnut sorrels, seventeen hands high and well matched. Provision has also been made for feed of the team until next October, so that neither the city nor the company will be at any expense. One of the men connected with Goddard's stables will drive at the day alarms, and Charley Alisky will handle the reins at night fires. Stalls will be temporarily erected in the engine house and today training the horses to step to the engine when the gong strikes will be commenced.

IN QUARANTINE.—The American bark Alden Besse arrived at Astoria Saturday evening from Hongkong having on board 230 Chinese passengers and a full cargo of merchandise. Four cases of small pox were reported on board among the passengers. The health officer at Astoria on being notified boarded the vessel and had her at once placed in quarantine. The Alden Besse lies at anchor out in the stream. Every possible precaution will be exercised by the authorities to prevent the disease from spreading. The four cases will be taken from the vessel and isolated, and the ship thoroughly fumigated.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS.—A few days ago sealed proposals for government supplies were opened at Vancouver in presence of bidders by Com. G. B. Dandy. The contract for oats and hay was awarded to ... for straw, to John Jaggy ... wood, to W. J. McConnell, of North Yamhill, Oregon; and for charcoal, to Wm. Baker and Oliver C. Hendrickson. The contract for transportation of freight between Vancouver and Portland was awarded to the People's Transportation Co. at the rate of ... cents, and transportation of soldiers at the rate of ... cents each.

GRATIFYING SUCCESS.—The committee on finance, appointed by the executive committee to solicit funds from the citizens of Portland with which to defray the expenses of the Fourth of July celebration, report having met with a very gratifying degree of success. The committee has thus far succeeded in collecting $1600 cash, which has been deposited in one of the city banks. It is intended to apportion this sum as follows: For prizes, $500; music, $1000; fireworks, $1000; fire department and incidental expenses, $100.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon while Mr. N. Nathan, the auctioneer, accompanied by his wife were driving out the White House road, their buggy was struck by a runaway team coming at a terrific speed behind them. Mrs. Nathan was thrown to the ground, sustaining a fracture of the right shoulder blade, and very severe bruises about the head. She was conveyed to her home where the wounds were dressed by Dr. Wells.

ANKLE SEVERELY SPRAINED.—On Tuesday evening ... Barney, one of the members of the ... company, was ... the close of the performance ... brought to this city and taken to the ... hotel. Owing to the very painful nature of the injuries, he was unable to leave Saturday morning for Astoria with the company.

UNDER BONDS.—Bradshaw and Murphy, the car robbers who burglarized a store at Turner's station about two weeks ago, and who were captured in this city on the 15th inst., have had a preliminary examination at Salem. Each was held to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $1500. It is scarcely necessary to add that they were committed in default of the necessary bonds. The third burglar is still at large.

CHANGE OF ENGINEERS.—Yesterday Wm. T. Everson, for several years past the efficient engineer of ... company, resigned. His place will be filled by Henry McMullen, formerly engineer for No. Four. Mr. Everson commencing today will handle the throttle of the new government tug "Robert T. Lincoln." His many friends in and out of the department wish him success in his new occupation.

TEMPERANCE.—The open temperance meeting was very well attended last Saturday evening. Rev. Mr. Wolverton's address was able and was well received. Miss Del. Castleman recited "Mothers' Prayers." It was her first appearance there; her recitation excited much applause. She was rewarded by an encore and gave another pleasing recitation.

SECOND ORGAN CONCERT.—To-morrow evening Mr. C. O. Knoepfel, assisted by Miss Packard, Miss Anderson and Mr. Coursen, Mr. J. A. Lawrence and the Amphion Glee Club will give a concert at Taylor street M. E. church. The programme, to be found in our advertising columns, is one of rare excellence. Tickets are only fifty cents.

FROM THE DALLES.—Mr. Geo. J. Johnson formerly purser on one of the steamers between San Francisco and Portland, but now in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co. at The Dalles, came down Saturday on business connected with the company. Mr. Johnson reports railroad matters at The Dalles ... He will return home today.

NOT IDENTIFIED.—The body which was found floating in the Columbia river a short distance below the Cascades, a few days ago, was so badly decomposed that it was unrecognizable. Coroner Garfield proceeded to the place, but no inquest was held, as the remains were so decayed as to be beyond identification.

CHANGE OF SAILING DATES.—The recent accident to the "State" will require at least three weeks for repair as the shaft must be made in the east. This necessitates a change in sailing dates, so that the advertised schedule will have to be varied. The Oregon leaves for San Francisco this afternoon.

ADJOURNED MEETING.—Next Wednesday evening an adjourned meeting of the common council will be held for the transaction of general business. Among other things to be considered is the veto of Mayor Thompson of the ordinance granting a ferry landing at the foot of Pine street.

PROSPECTING.—Saturday morning a party consisting of James Powell, George Ross, Mr. Davis and son, of East Portland, started on a prospecting tour into the Cascades south of Mount Hood. This party are well provided with tools and provisions, and will be absent some time.

FROST.—Saturday morning there was quite a heavy frost in this city and neighborhood. In Milwaukie and back of East Portland ice formed to the thickness of one-eighth of an inch. Fruit is so far advanced that little if any injury was caused.

RAISED.—The "Boss" saloon building, opposite the O. & C. Railroad office, has been raised four feet, to correspond with the new grade of North Front street. It is understood that the Clarendon Hotel will be raised a similar distance this fall.

AFTER 41 YEARS.—Rev. J. L. Parrish has removed with his family to Portland from Salem and expects to make this city his future home. Mr. Parrish is one of Oregon's earliest pioneer missionaries, and has resided at Salem for the past ... years.

CLOSE CALL.—Saturday evening about 6:30 the roof of the residence of Mrs Brannen, at the corner of Seventh and G streets caught fire from sparks. The fire was timely discovered and promptly extinguished without giving an alarm.

A STEREOPTICON ENTERTAINMENT.—Will begin in the Unitarian chapel Wednesday evening. There will be some sixty views—nearly half of them new.

FOR PORTLAND.—The O. R. & N. Co.'s steamship ... will sail from San Francisco for Portland this forenoon with freight and passengers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FESTIVAL.—The Unitarian Sunday school will have their picnic next Saturday, leaving by ... of Morrison street, at 8:30 A. M.

FOR SITKA.—The steamer California will sail for ... and Alaskan ports ... at 9 A. M.

FOR THE NORTH.—The steamer California will sail for northern ports on Tuesday, May 24, at 9 A. M.

THE CHINESE OPIUM TRADE.

Enormous Importation of the Noxent Drug.

From reports of C. N. Denny, consul-general at Shanghai, we learn that the market value of opium into China in 1879, amounted to $71,[illegible], or [illegible] per cent. of the total foreign import trade to that country, and adding that [illegible] quantity finding its way into China from Hongkong through Chinese junks, which amounted to a value of $11,[illegible] we reach the respectable sum of $[illegible] for the import of foreign opium, against a total of $[illegible] for all other imports. The exports of opium to California for eight years, 1872 to 1879 inclusive [illegible]. Mr. Denny says:

Those figures show at a glance the quantity and value of this drug from which the government of British India derives the portions yearly revenue of forty to fifty-five millions of dollars. It is not my purpose to enter into a lengthened demonstration of the mischievous and ruinous effects of opium smoking, for that is evident; nor do I intend to apologize for the foreign opium trade, against which evil years ago the Anglo-Oriental society for the suppression of the opium trade was established in London, and which does not leave a stone unturned to have the Indian opium trade abated, which it asserts is as debasing and is inhuman as ever the slave trade was. But these comments will be more upon the subject in a general way, based upon personal study and observation made during my residence in China. In the first place, I may say that it is an erroneous, but general belief, that Great Britain is not only responsible for the introduction of opium into China, but for its increasing evil results.

The Arabs and Persians traded with China centuries before the Portuguese, and the Siamese did from time immemorial. Besides her extensive tea trade, China for thousands of years carried on a valuable and important trade across her western borders with India and Central Asia, and there is not lacking evidence to be found to show that the Chinese ever came to know the uses even of opium through Europeans. As before stated, in 1736 the Chinese in the western provinces extensively cultivated the poppy, which gradually assumed greater dimensions until 1780, when the first prohibition against the opium trade by sea was issued by the emperor. But notwithstanding these imperial decrees, the cultivation increased and the East India company, who had established an agent at Canton for trading purposes, but more particularly in opium, was communicated with by the government in the same year with the object of abolishing the trade in opium. In 1800 the foreign merchants at Canton had to give bonds conditioned that they would not deal in this branch of trade, and from the year 1815 up to 1834, many edicts, couched in the strongest language, were issued by the emperor prohibiting his subjects from engaging either in the traffic or consumption of opium, under severe penalties. In 1830 a censor memorialized the throne stating the fact to be that not less than one-half the area of the province of Chekiang was planted with the obnoxious poppy plant.

A REMARKABLE JOURNALIST.

Engraver and Printer who Uses Neither Hands nor Feet.

Stockton Mail, May [illegible].

The most remarkable newspaper man in the United States lives at Angels Camp, Calaveras county. His name is S. S. Waterman. He is 34 years old and has been paralyzed ever since he was born. He was born in Angels and has never been away from the town but once, when he went in search of medical aid, but failed to find any. His paralysis is of the upper and lower limbs, which he cannot move. His speech is also affected and it is only with difficulty that he can talk at all. Early in life he manifested a liking for movable type, which he placed in position with his teeth. He soon began to cut type out of wood, holding the engraving tools between his teeth when he used them. He has made a good deal of block type in this way, with which he at present conducts a small job printing business. He also sets metal type with his teeth. Waterman was one of the founders of the Mountain Echo, a weekly paper now being published in Angels. He set a good deal of the type on this paper with his teeth, and having a good education, manufactured his editorials and other articles as he went along. He is now out of the newspaper business and confines himself entirely to job printing and engraving. He does all the programme and invitation work for the town, frequently engraving special designs for his jobs. His press work, of course, he cannot do with his teeth and employs a boy to do that part of the work for him—the only part that he cannot do himself.

The Queen of the Lobby.

[Washington Letter to the Chicago Tribune.]

In the heart of the most fashionable portion of the metropolis is a neat, unobtrusive house, the blinds of which are rarely opened, and the threshold of which is rarely darkened by any female form save that of its owner, while gentlemen are coming and going at all hours, especially after dark. It is the home of one who is to Washington what Aspasia was in Athens, a large, handsome, well-developed woman, with vivacious manners and great conversational powers. Courted and yet shunned, admired yet contemned, she has leading congressmen, officers of the army and navy, and men high up in our civil service in her cozy drawing-room, or around her deliciously-laden supper-table. Until real interest retains her, and she is awarded a "contingent" in almost every scheme for plundering the treasury through congress. Every Sunday evening she is "at home," and at 11 o'clock the door of her dining-room is thrown open disclosing a supper cooked in the most artistic style, with wines of the rarest vintages. Occasionally, but very seldom, she visits the capitol, and is seen in the galleries listening to some interesting debate and casting bright glances down upon the baldheaded gentlemen on the floor.

De Lesseps' Runaway Cashier.

The cashier of De Lesseps' canal company didn't get away with $30,000,000 exactly; but he did carry off a good sum of money. He was a gambler, and lost heavily at roulette just before his flight. As soon as it was found out that he had fled, pursuit was made, and he was overtaken at Arica, South America, where he was living in most extravagant style. As he could not be extradited, his pursuers compromised with him, and he turned over to them 75,000 francs.

He Wasn't Elected Clerk.

[From the Cleveland Leader.]

It seems a little singular that the country should be thrown into a hubbub upon discovering that the people did not elect James A. Garfield to the office of clerk to his Royal "Primacy" from New York. Almost anybody in the western reserve could have informed the country that Gen. Garfield was a man who did not so understand the purpose of the great contest last fall.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

Five thousand bushels of wheat in [illegible] is not shipped, but nearly all sold.

The house of A. P. Gaines, about five miles from Scio, was entered by a burglar last Thursday. The burglar was captured and found to be a boy 18 years old. His trial was had on Friday last and he was sent to Albany for safe keeping.

The first scow load of stone and brush was placed in position in the harbor work at Yaquina bay last week. Times there are quite lively; a number of pleasure seekers are already there and the prospect for a prosperous season are quite flattering.

Moses E. Robbins is in the Polk county jail in default of $1500 bonds to appear at the next term of the circuit court in Dallas, and answer to the charge of incest. The first indictment against him was quashed on account of the failure of Mrs. Robbins to produce a certificate of her marriage with defendant. All necessary proofs will be forthcoming by the next term of court.

Eastern Oregon.

A. A. Denney, of Kingsley, Wasco county, has succeeded in raising about 800 lambs from 800 ewes this spring, and his entire herd of 1500 head sheared an average of nearly seven pounds each. All the help he has employed in herding is one man and a boy.

Mr. Carson C. Maslker, of Spring valley, Grant county, writes thus about inefficient mail service: Spring valley postoffice has not been supplied at all since July 1, 1878. With a postoffice in our midst we have to go twenty miles for our mails, and then get them very irregular, and our papers frequently fail altogether. We have repeatedly tried to stir up the postal agent and postmaster general, but our efforts have been answered with silent contempt. While making a move in this matter please speak a word for us.

Washington Territory.

A tax of ten mills on the dollar has been levied in Stevens county to build a county jail.

The Shoalwater Bay oyster trade is reviving, and bids fair to again become one of considerable importance.

On the 12th inst., Wm. Race, of Island county, fell dead suddenly near Coupeville. Mr. Race was an old resident of the territory, being well known and respected.

The Olympia & Tenino railroad is daily taking into Olympia from [illegible] 40,000 feet of logs from Turner's camp, and altogether are doing a good and improving business.

Fourteen tons of oysters were shipped from Olympia for San Francisco last week. This is probably the largest shipment that will be sent this season, as the season is getting too far advanced.

Jesse Day now owns the Dayton Woolen mills alone, and offers to sell it for $30,000. The mills cost $[illegible] originally, but so far failed to pay and are now closed up, awaiting a purchaser who understands the business and will make it pay.

John Marshall died at Tumwater, May 17th, of softening of the brain, after a painful illness. He had been in the employ of Ward & Mitchell for many years and was industrious and a good citizen. He leaves a widow and family of five small children.

[illegible] The Eagle Mill Company, which has heretofore controlled the barrel factory in Seattle, is about to be merged in the Mattulath company, which will then be sole owner of the Puyallup, Seattle and San Francisco establishments. The [illegible] company's long existence.

HUB PUNCH,

TO TOP OFF A DINNER,

May be Drunk Clear, as a Cordial.

For a dinner thoroughly appointed, the good old way was to wash down the last morsel of the feast with copious libations of rich, rare and curious old Port and Golden Sherry; but "HUB PUNCH" has added a new sensation to the epicure. Its delicacy, aroma, flavor, and delicious, but gentle effects, proclaim it the nectar fit for the gods banqueting on Olympus.

Mix HUB PUNCH with Ice Water, Cold Tea, Lemonade, or Soda. It is unanimously pronounced unrivalled.
